A man said ICE took his wife. Now he's charged with murdering her.

In Limoges, France, the mayor says the police ran out of ammunition before the church and City Hall were burned.

You know you're getting old when your doctor asks whether you've had sex in the last year.

What about Kalshi and Polymarket on the elections? Those markets reflect how the press plays down what is going on, making it look like there's no Republican turnout. That doesn't tell you what's going to happen. It tells you what people believe is going to happen. That's not a deciding factor, but it is meant to keep Republicans home.

A friend of mine just posted that the Cook Political Report shifted its rating of the Minnesota Senate race. It's looking better for the Republican. So how could the rest of the country be gone? I don't understand.

The CMS director said that, in Minnesota, they were giving parents $1,500 per child to falsely claim their children were autistic, saddling them with diagnoses they did not have.

Italy's prime minister, Giorgia Meloni, passed new measures on October 20, including five years in prison and a €20,000 fine for violent participation in demonstrations. Hide your face, and the penalties are enhanced. Parents are financially responsible for damage caused by their minor children. Police have expanded powers to hold dangerous minors before demonstrations, and teenagers can be prosecuted more easily starting at age 14. She gets it. Italy will not be France.

Wedgewood Polls, a polling organization, admitted that it made a lot of stuff up. They used big words, but basically, all the polls showed Democrats leading, and they admitted it was all made up.

I heard a high school kid say, "No way Gen X wrote 10-page reports without AI." Sweetie, we wrote them without reading the book, by hand, in cursive.

A mother wrote to a Dear Abby-type advice columnist: "My son is a musically gifted high school senior who refuses to visit colleges. Should I hold his hand and take him to colleges?" The columnist's advice was wrong. The answer should have been: Tell him that if he doesn't pick a college, you'll start charging him rent the day he graduates. He has to get a job, and after 45 days, you'll kick him out. An 18-year-old high school senior should not need Mommy to pick out his colleges.

I will make one election prediction right now: Incumbents will continue to do well. It is very hard to beat an incumbent. They have the ability to raise a lot of money that a challenger does not. They can also get their names in the papers. We will see.

If Ilhan Omar lied about her age because she would not have qualified for citizenship through her father, then her citizenship can be revoked, and she can be deported. She will be deported. It's just a question of when.

Zionism is the right of Jews not to be slaughtered again.

To the people trying to make Florida close: It's over. In October 2022, Republicans had a 300,000-voter registration advantage over Democrats. In 2026, it's 1.5 million. As of Friday, Democrats were ahead by only 35,000 ballots cast. In 2022, Republicans cast 644,000 more votes than Democrats on Election Day. Do you get the picture? All the people saying it's a two-point race are insane.

For my 2026 taxes, I am going to have ChatGPT do my tax return. The problem with my tax software is that it creates a 200-page return when my tax return is about seven pages. I get a lot of 1099s, and the tax software makes me input the name, address, and EIN. None of that is required; I just have to list the name and the amount. So it takes me hours to do my tax return. This year, I'll be done in 30 minutes.

Reporter to a trans woman: "Is your dog male or female?" Answer: "Male." Reporter: "Did you neuter him?" Answer: "Yes." Reporter: "So you cut his balls off, but he's not a woman—and you are?"

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals issued an en banc ruling on immigration. This means the full court ruled, instead of just three judges, so this is big. The judges ruled that people who have not been lawfully admitted, do not have a right to a bond hearing, while detained during removal proceedings.

A woman had a months-long relationship with an AI version of Bon Jovi. She thought she was talking to the real thing. Then she started sending him money. Explain why you would send money to a billionaire?

What happened in Brazil? The fraud was so big that everybody sees it. In Brazil, there are no paper ballots. You vote on electronic machines, and you can't get a paper receipt, no matter what you do. Lula's former attorney, whom he appointed to the Supreme Court, ruled at 5 p.m., when voting was over, that the polls would stay open two hours later. That went against all precedent. This is where the fraud occurred. A lot of the polls had already closed. Then every single first-round vote for a right-wing candidate became a vote for Lula in the final count. The head of Brazil's Election Commission said that the order from the Supreme Court judge was unprecedented and possibly not legal. That last description is my wording, not his. Stay tuned.

An auctioneer is the only person who can get two people fighting over something neither of them wanted five minutes ago.

Studies show that women who eat bacon for breakfast are far less likely to marry their brother.
